

Learning Styles

I believe that learning styles are extremely valuable in retaining information in a way that makes sense for your brain and utilizing a learning style that speaks to you is the most efficient and pain free way to learn. I am a visual learner so actually being able to see someone perform the task in front of me has always led to me absorbing that information the fastest. So yes i believe knowing your learning style is extremely important to academic success.